National Conference
2018

November 1-3, 2018

Susquehanna University
welcomes

FUSE National
The Forum for Undergraduate
Student Editors

November 1-3, 2018

This year's theme:

Resilience

The publishing and editing industry has always been competitive and fast-paced. In an age of political disparity, mass digitalization, and hyper-information, resilience is a crucial trait for success. As the world changes, so do the obstacles of publishing and editing professionals. We would like to know what challenges our members have faced in their publishing and editing endeavors, and together, we would like to explore solutions.

FUSE National

The Forum for Undergraduate
Student Editors

FUSE's mission is to foster visionary magazine work and to support undergraduates who are eager to pursue careers in writing, publishing and editing.

FUSE provides a wide range of tools necessary for students to further their editing and writing endeavors, and it is also designed to be accessible to professors of editing and publishing courses, faculty advisors of literary magazines, and directors of undergraduate programs.
